BRITISH STRIKE MAY TIE UP INDUSTRIES

LONDON, March 31.—Great manufacturing centers are threatened with a paralysis by the strike of coal miners that went into effect today.

The strike is expected to last for a day, twenty-four hours out of the time set, and all the coal mined today will be used up.

The strike leaders predict today that more than 100,000 would be out of work, and that by Friday all mines would be tied up with more than 200,000 on strike to enforce their demand for a minimum wage.

The strike has been described for many months.

WALTER CAMP SAYS THAT GOLF AND YACHTING ARE GETTING 'LEARY' TO THE 'INSIDE STUFF'

Written Especially for the Boston AMERICAN
By WALTER CAMP.

Walter J. Travis, at the same time that he was showing his old-time prowess by overcoming the lead of the Canadian champion, Grice, two up and three to play, by winning the last three holes in one under par, has found occasion to comment vigorously upon the Lenoir Cup matches.

The veteran is strongly for the four-ball match rather than the foursome, and he puts up rather seriously to the Massachusetts Golf Association that the foursomes be substituted in order "that the winning chances of their team should be increased and those of the inferior team diminished."

NICHOLSON IS GETTING 'LEARY.'

Meaning Designer Nicholson of St. Thomas Ligon's challenge for the America's Cup is quoted:

"It is interesting to know that it was the indirect publication of certain apparently simple details of the challenge that led Herreshoff to alter the design of the boat he is building."

Truly, affairs in the sporting world seem to be becoming unduly strenuous when even golfers and yachtsmen appear thus excited concerning the whiffs and misses of a word. And it is true that Nicholson would allow only untrained men to work on the challenger for the very purpose of insuring inviolable secrecy!

COLLEGE CREWS ON THE WATER.

The end of March, after more than a month of the severest kind of weather, winding up with a dash of rain and winter has given at last an opportunity for the college crews to get out of the gymnasiums and on to the water.

From this time on, we shall have an opportunity to see what the style of the college is likely to develop, for as this column predicted, not only the coaching in rowing promises to be at fever heat this year, but there never has been a time when so much money has been spent in securing coaches or when the coaching talent spread about among the college crews has been so remarkable.

AND OLD ELL IS SAVING WOOD.

The Ells brothers are now at Yale and Penn. Gay at Yale and Vivian at Penn. Both now have crews on the water. Much attention has been made by Vivian Ells, dealing with strokes, and of race, and of the word "Ells" in the word "Ells" which reminds one that the largest canvas of the artist, Horatio Walker, exhibited in the Montreal Galleries, is called "A Man Saving Wood."

Meaning, Wray at Cambridge, whether or not he has arranged his contract satisfactorily, as at work with his men and has a pretty fair lot to handle.

ROWING OUTSIDE OF COLLEGES.

Nor is there much less interest in various clubs outside the colleges. A New York rowing association has been developed to bring together the clubs of the Harlem, Hudson River and Long Island associations, and there are now but less than twenty-five boat clubs represented in the list of charter members.

Representatives held a meeting a short time ago at the New York Athletic Club and elected James H. Hinton, who, for years, has been the most active in metropolitan rowing affairs, as president. They elected also some other officers, and it is probable that the association will now probably eventually include nearly fifty boat clubs located in and about the Harlem and Hudson rivers, as well as the Long Island association, and will be the means for a further great development in interest.

BASEBALL NEWS AND NOTES

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 11.—The Red Sox were a happy group of ball players when they broke camp here today and boarded the train for Nashville, Tenn., where they are expected to open a three-game series tomorrow.

Some of the Sox players who have been practicing here for over two weeks and they are anxious to perform under new conditions.

Billie Wagner, shortstop, expressed anxiety about the missing when the Red Sox party left this morning for the Hot Springs station.

Wagner will probably not join the team until it reaches Indianapolis on April 12, when he will be expected to play.

Wagner has decided to stay here for a while, and the Sox will probably place him "once over."

It is virtually certain that Wagner will not start the season at shortstop for the Red Sox.
